THIS is Morehead State University?

Because you should visit our campus to see what it's really like, we decided not to fill this view-book with the usual pictures of campus life. But why all the fancy photos of sculpture?

These statues were exhibited in our Claypool-Young Gallery during last spring semester. Our art students and faculty worked on the show for more than a year, polishing, cleaning and restoring damaged pieces from the cast collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The casts were taken directly from original works and had been in storage in New York City since 1938 when the Metropolitan expanded its collection and replaced the casts with other acquisitions.

These pieces remain on campus on long-term loan even though the exhibition has ended. MSU is the only Kentucky institution to receive works from the collection and is one of six schools in the United States chosen to show similar pieces.

About the publication. The photographs in this publication were taken by MSU students David Byrd and Bob Criswell. (Bob's work appears on pp. 2, 5, and 16. David produced the rest.) David is now a staff photographer in our Office of Photographic Services and Bob is employed at The Morehead News.

Tony Fargo, a senior who worked last summer as an intern for the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune, authored the copy. Kath Wagar, a two-time MSU graduate and graphic designer for the Office of Publications and MSU's Appalachian Development Center, was responsible for the layout and design of the book.

History

You can become a part of more than 57 years of educational history and tradition at Morehead State University.

MSU first opened its doors in 1922 as Morehead State Normal School. The school underwent four name changes in the next 45 years to reflect its changing roles: in 1926 it became Morehead State Normal School and Teachers College; in 1930 it was Morehead State Teachers College; in 1948 the name was changed to Morehead State College; and in 1966, the legislature granted the school university status.

You can become one of more than 7,700 students studying in six academic schools at Morehead State: Applied Sciences and Technology, Business and Economics, Education, Humanities, Sciences and Mathematics, and Social Sciences.

In addition, you can become part of an institution with a sound philosophy of teaching, applied research, and service to Eastern Kentucky and the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Campus

You can feel at home on the 500-acre campus nestled in the foothills of the Daniel Boone National Forest. Several of the more than 50 major structures on campus have won awards for their outstanding architecture.

In addition to the main campus, the University maintains a 316-acre experimental farm, a nine-hole golf course and an outdoor education laboratory at Cave Run Lake.

Town

The City of Morehead is small enough for you to feel a part of it but large enough to provide all the services you need.

The estimated 10,000 people of Morehead are friendly and willing to help, and that attitude carries over to the many businesses in the Morehead area. The downtown section is only one block away from the main campus, so having an automobile is optional.

Located just off I-64, two miles from Main Street, is Trademore Shopping Center, which offers six restaurants, a major food store, department stores, specialty shops and a mini-mall.

Morehead is easy for you to find, located midway between Ashland and Lexington on I-64. You're invited to come for a visit any time, but it is best to come between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, when administrative offices are open. Walking tours depart from the Admissions Office each weekday at 2 p.m.

Nearby

At the northern edge of the University campus is Eagle Lake, where you can spend your leisure time fishing, hiking, picnicking, or enjoying the quiet.

There are many beautiful recreation areas within minutes of Morehead. Located eight miles away is Cave Run Lake, with facilities for camping, swimming, boating, water skiing, hiking, picnicking, and MSU Summer Theatre productions. Rodburn Park, also owned by the U.S. Forest Service, has many hiking trails and picnic areas in a peaceful setting just two miles east of the campus.

Within an hour you can drive to four state parks: Carter Caves, Grayson Lake, Greenbo Lake, and Natural Bridge (in the Red River Gorge area).

Accreditations and Memberships

MSU is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; American Medical Association Committee on Allied Health Education: Medical Assistant Education; Council on Social Work Education; National Association of Schools of Music; National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education; the Radiologic Technology Association; the American Veterinary Medical Association, and The Council of Graduate Schools in the United States.

The University holds memberships in the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, American Association of State Colleges and Universities, American Council on Education, Conference of Southern Graduate Schools, National Commission on Accreditation, National League for Nursing, and the Southern Regional Education Board.

We have plenty to offer the serious student.

The Facilities

Morehead State University has more than 50 major structures of varied architectural styles. Since we don't want to get you lost before you even come to campus, this book will focus on just a few of the major facilities. (For more detail, see the campus map in the back of the book.)

Health services

MSU provides modern health services in the Caudill Health Clinic, located on the first floor of Allie Young Hall in the middle of the campus.

Medical care is supervised by physicians from a local clinic, and a physician's assistant is on duty Monday through Friday. Physicians visit the University Clinic each weekday, are on call each night, and visit in-patients on weekends. Nurses are on duty around the clock at the University facility. Patients with life-threatening conditions or serious injuries are treated at the hospital in Morehead where highly-skilled specialists in many fields are available.

Adron Doran University Center

You can eat, watch television, play pool, or attend formal and informal social functions in the University's most versatile building, the Adron Doran University Center (ADUC). In the building are a cafeteria, a grill, a gameroom, television lounge and smaller rooms for banquets, dinners, and meetings.

The Crager Room, located on the third floor, is used for numerous academic, social, and public events, both formal and informal.

On the first floor, you can relax with a little pool or pinball in the gameroom or go up to the second floor and watch television in the TV lounge.

ADUC also houses the University Post Office, which is a full-service U.S. Postal Service station. The University Store carries all textbooks required by the University as well as clothing, sundries and other merchandise. It is located just off the first floor foyer.

Offices of the Student Government Association, the Program Council, and the Interfraternity and Panhellenic councils are on the second floor.

Howell-McDowell Administration Building

Most administrative offices of the University are located in Howell-McDowell, a three-story structure in the center of the campus. Here you will find the Admissions Office, the Bureaus of Fiscal Affairs and Student Affairs, and offices of the President, Student Financial Aid, and Student Housing. At the entry level on the front of the building you may cash checks at the cashier's window or pick up transcripts of grades at the Registrar's Office.

Johnson Camden Library

With the recent completion of the five-story Julian M. Carroll Library Tower, Johnson Camden Library now has space for 850,000 volumes. The library also houses microfilm and microfiche files and is home to the Dial Access Center, with facilities for listening to recorded material.

Laughlin Health Building and Wetherby Gymnasium

You can bowl, wrestle, take a sauna, play racquetball or handball, dance, or take part in numerous other activities in the Laughlin Health Building, which houses a multi-purpose room with four regulation-size basketball courts, a gymnastics room, a weight room, racquetball/handball courts, a bowling alley, and modern locker room facilities.

Connected to Laughlin is Wetherby Gymnasium, a 5,000-seat arena which is used for basketball, volleyball, graduation exercises, and major concerts.

Our cafeteria food is something to write home about.

Housing

Morehead State offers seven men's and eight women's residence halls, as well as numerous facilities for married students.

Men's residence halls. You can live in any one of seven men's facilities at MSU: Butler Hall, Downing Hall, Alumni Tower, Cartmell Hall, Cooper Hall, Regents Hall, and Wilson Hall. However, Butler is used only in cases of overflow, and Downing is reserved for scholarship athletes.

Freshmen are housed in Regents and Cooper Halls, while Wilson, Cartmell, and Alumni Tower are for upperclassmen. All five halls have air conditioning, telephones in each room, closets, bookshelves, desks, chairs, vending areas, washers and dryers, and storage areas.

Men are housed two to a room except for Downing (four to a room).

Women's residence halls. There are eight women's residence halls, with three (Fields, Thompson, and Waterfield) reserved for freshmen. Other women's halls are East Mignon (pronounced "Muh-NON"), Mignon Hall, Mignon Tower, Nunn Hall, and West Mignon Hall.

Women are housed two to a room in freshman halls, and four to a suite in upperclass facilities. Freshman rooms each have a telephone, closets, bookshelves, desks, and chairs for two.

In upperclass halls, four women share a three-room suite, which includes a telephone and a private bath with shower. The front room of each suite is complete with desks and chairs for four and a large round table for group activities and studying. The back room is equipped with beds and make-up areas, while the hall connecting the two rooms is lined with closets. Each room has an outside entrance onto an open hall.

Women's residence halls also include laundry facilities, storage rooms, and vending areas.

Your roommates. Every effort will be made to honor your choice of roommates. You may request a private room (at a higher rate) and it will be assigned when available.

Married housing. If you are married and both of you want to come to MSU, the University can help with more than ample facilities for married students.

Located on the main campus is Normal Hall, a dorm-like apartment building with one-bedroom apartments offering kitchen and bathroom facilities.

Just across from Waterfield Hall is Lakewood Terrace, a complex of buildings containing efficiency and one-bedroom apartments with outside entrances and kitchen and bath facilities. There are also playgrounds and a central laundry building.

East of town is the Ky. 32 Mobile Home Park (affectionately known to its residents as "The Blue Zoo") with 123 mobile homes. The park is operated by the University, and includes a playground.

Housing information. For more information about housing costs or other questions about living at MSU, contact the Director of Student Housing, Morehead State University, 302 Howell-McDowell Administration Building, Morehead, KY 40351, telephone 606/783-3323.

Button Auditorium

You can enjoy theatre productions, concerts, speakers, movies, and meetings in Button Auditorium, a 1,300-seat facility and one of the oldest buildings on campus. The second floor of Button houses the Army ROTC program.

Breathitt Sports Center

You can cheer the football team, play tennis or soccer, or run track at the Breathitt Sports Center.

This is the home of Jayne Stadium, a 10,000-seat football stadium which also houses the all-weather track. Next to Jayne Stadium is the soccer field, where the Eagles play during the fall.

Also in the Center are 14 all-weather tennis courts that are lighted for night play.

You heard right—no sheet, no shoes, no service!

The Costs

Fees

You pay fees when you register at the beginning of each semester. It is not necessary to pay any fees before actually coming to MSU except for a $25 housing deposit.

You can see a breakdown of costs for one semester, NOT including books, food, and other personal expenses, in the expenses chart on this page.

Your fees entitle you to use of the student health services, a subscription to the student newspaper and yearbook, and admission to all athletic events, Student Government Association concerts, and to programs sponsored by the Concert and Lecture Series.

Special fees

You may have to pay some fees for courses in physical education, music, and military science, which require special materials or facilities. If you make any voluntary changes in your class schedule after registration (dropping or adding courses), or if you take any of the tests available through the Testing Service for credit, additional fees also will be charged.

Optional fees

At registration you may rent a refrigerator from the University for $20 per semester. You and your roommate may also rent a television set and cable hookup during registration. TV's are rented for $20 a semester and the cable costs $16. You may bring a TV set from home with permission from the Student Housing Office but you must rent the cable hookup from the University.

You also may buy accident and medical insurance, as well as insurance for your personal belongings. These plans are available at registration through a private company, and the University takes no responsibility for claims or adjustments.

Financial aid

If you need financial assistance to attend the University, several programs are available through the federal and state governments and the University. About 50% of MSU students receive some financial assistance.

Expenses for Fall or Spring Semester*

	Ky. Res.	Out-of-State

Tuition -full-time	$240.00	$650.00
Tuition—part-time (less than 12 hrs.) per hour	20.00	54.00
Graduate students
Tuition—full-time	275.00	700.00
Tuition—part-time (less than 9 hrs.) per hour	31.00	78.00
Room rent	175.00-185.00	175.00-185.00
Laundry service (dormitory residents)	8.00	8.00
Telephone Centrex fee	21.00	21.00
Parking (if applicable)	10.00	10.00
Student service and activity fee	20.00	20.00

*All fees are subject to change without notice by action of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education and/or Morehead State University Board of Regents.

Eligibility for most financial aid depends on your family's income, assets, and liabilities. Such assistance ordinarily makes up the difference between what you and your family can afford to pay towards college expenses and what the actual costs of college will be. Since the amount of financial aid is limited, you should apply early in your senior year of high school.

How to apply. To qualify for financial assistance at MSU, you should apply for admission and be accepted. If you're a Kentucky resident, you should submit the Kentucky Financial Aid Form (KFAF). If an out-of-state student, you should complete the ACT Family Financial Statement. All students are encouraged to apply for a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) by completing the BEOG section of any of these application forms. You can get the forms from your high school counselor or from the Division of Student Financial Aid, Morehead State University, 305 Howell-McDowell Administration Building, Morehead, KY 40351.

Other sources. You may qualify for benefits through the Veterans Administration, Social Security, Vocational Rehabilitation, or private sources. You should contact the local office of these agencies for further information.

If you would like to work off campus while at the University, you should contact the program director of the Student Government Association when you arrive on campus. The program director is in charge of a job placement program and keeps in touch with local businesses concerning job opportunities for students.

Types of assistance. Financial assistance includes scholarships, grants, loans, and work-study programs. Scholarships are usually awarded on the basis of academic achievement and special skills or interests, while other financial assistance is based most often on financial need. Most grants are given on the basis of need, and, like scholarships, do not have to be repaid.

You may qualify for a workshop, which allows you to work on campus a maximum of 12 hours a week for an hourly wage, paid every two weeks. The pay rate is set at the beginning of each academic year in accordance with federal minimum wage guidelines. Every effort is made to assign workshops in the department of a student's major interest. If you are awarded a workshop, your assignment will be made during registration.

Loans may be used to complete a financial aid package. They are normally repayable after you have completed school. Interest payments vary according to the type of loan, but are usually at a low rate.

The Life

You don't have to spend all of your time studying here. The University offers many activities and organizations to add variety and spice to your campus life. MSU also provides a number of special opportunities and services if you need or want to take advantage of them.

Organizations

The University is home to a number of organizations with various purposes and goals to serve a wide variety of interests.

Honor. Membership in honor organizations is usually based on academic achievement in various areas of study. Some of these organizations encompass all disciplines. These honor societies have chapters at MSU:

Alpha Epsilon Rho
Blue Key
Cardinal Key
Delta Tau Alpha
Gamma Beta Phi Society
Kappa Delta Pi
Kappa Omicron Phi
Lambda Iota Tau
Lambda Sigma
Phi Alpha Theta*
Phi Kappa Phi*

You'll stay on your toes at MSU.

Appalachian studies. You're likely to be interested in Appalachian heritage, particularly if you are a native of Eastern Kentucky. MSU's Appalachian Development Center is doing all sorts of exciting things that may interest you.

Although the Center's primary function is business development, the area of Appalachian studies also is emphasized, such as sponsorship of the Appalachian Celebration, with its workshops on country dancing, dulcimer and quilt making, folklore, and weaving, to name a few. And last summer there were concerts by Jean Ritchie and Billy Edd Wheeler. The ADC sponsors outstanding lecturers and public events during the school year on Appalachian heritage, and of course there are credit courses dealing especially with Appalachia.

The Beginning

If you have elected to come to MSU, you have made the most important part of the decision. Now you have several things to do to get ready.

First . . .

Send the enclosed postpaid reply card or write to the Director of Admissions, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351, and request the necessary forms. You will be sent admission, housing, and medical forms and other information.

Second . . .

Complete the admission and housing forms and return them to the appropriate office. You also should arrange to have the medical form completed before you enroll on campus.

Third . . .

You should arrange to take the American College Testing Examination (ACT) and have the scores reported to Morehead State University. These scores are used only for class placement. If you are a Kentucky resident and indicate MSU as your first choice on the ACT form, you do not need to submit an application form but still must send the housing and medical forms. If you desire to take the ACT on campus, it will be necessary to make arrangements through the Testing Center. The telephone is 606/783-3313.

Fourth . . .

If at any time you have questions, please do not hesitate to contact the Admissions Office. If you live in Kentucky, you can use our toll-free number: 1-800-262-7474. Out-of-state students should call 606/783-3117.

Additional requirements

If you plan to major in nursing, radiologic technology, veterinary technology or medical assisting, you will need to fill out extra forms and meet additional requirements. To find out more about this, write to the Dean of the School of Applied Sciences and Technology,

Morehead State University, UPO 721, Morehead, KY 40351. Most of these programs also require early admission because of limited openings, so it would be best to act before January of your senior year.

Orientation and pre-registration

The summer before you arrive on campus, you have the option of taking part in freshman orientation and pre-registration, which allows you to arrange the schedule of classes you'll take in the fall. You pay no fees until fall registration.

Your advisor

You will have a faculty member who will assist you in planning your academic schedule each semester. This advisement procedure helps you to progress toward your academic and career goals within a specific time frame.

If you have not decided on a major when you arrive on campus, assistance is available to help you plan your coursework or to aid you in career planning.

Orientation

The first week on campus will find you in an orientation session to help you learn what going to college is all about. More information about this will be available at your dormitory when you arrive.

Special admissions

Veterans, high school juniors, GED certificate holders, transfer students, special students, and persons desiring to audit courses are also eligible for admission with approval of the Director of Admissions.

International students

If you are an international student, you also are welcome at Morehead State University. An international student academic advisor is available to help you. For detailed application instructions, write to the Director of Admissions, Morehead State University, Morehead KY 40351.
